

HULL GADA HULL TALKS

POLISH POETRY FROM THE STREETS OF HULL

Over the last few months, Polish poet Bohdan Piasecki has been taking his Pop-up Poetry Station around Hull, gathering stories and writing poems with the local Polish community, in an attempt to amplify those voices which often go unheard. Now you can get a glimpse of this foreign world just a language away.

Hull Gada was commissioned by Hull UK City of Culture 2017. Supported by British Council and Polish Book Institute.

SHOP OF POEMS: POLISH POETRY FROM THE STREETS OF HULL

A space for poetry and those who need it. See our exhibition of posters featuring brand new poems from and about Hull's Polish community, sit down with a book of Polish poems in English translation, write your own text and add it to our collection, catch a poetry workshop – the Shop is there for you to use as you see fit..

24 – 30 Sep, 11am – 6pm
Shop of Poems, Princes Quay, Princes Dock St, Hull HU1 2PQ (Level 2, near River Island)
free admission, unticketed

OPEN POETRY WORKSHOP

Free & open to all comers. No experience necessary; work with Bohdan Piasecki to create, perfect, and rehearse a brand new piece of poetry, with an eye on an evening performance. For all aged 16 and over. In English and Polish.

24 Sep, 10am
Shop of Poems, Princes Quay, Princes Dock St, Hull HU1 2PQ (Level 2, near River Island)
free admission, ticketed

ALL EVENTS ARE FREE, tickets:
hull2017.co.uk/hullgada

 @hullgada

 #hullgada