Our family lived on Greatfield from 1962-1964
1115 Bradford Avenue. Brings back many memories lovely connections + similar memories of when we lived on Longhill when it was brand new. Great to talk to people who have similar ~~experiences~~ as us.

At a 5 year old the excitement of an inside bathroom and a cooker with a grill!!!!!! Toast is still one of my favourite foods! Dr. C. of C. Volunpen

(ps. the church was the HUB of the estate then)

Enjoyed all the old photos
Very interesting

So liked the station. Very grateful for social hours on 1st was brought up on a similar estate
in Sunbury.

My family lived on Greatfield 1957-1963. Photos brought back memories - Thank you. ~~At times~~

A good idea would be to photograph over the pictures
on the wooden boards and a big banner saying
The story of Greatfield.

lovely to see all of the different old coins and they are all wonderful.

Having seen the project from start to finish I am really happy with the resulting exhibition. Also that the art has a life of its own & is proving all the time, and the exhibition will grow, as we are planning to do a further community session on June 17th at St Stephens Church 11-3pm.

Enjoyed being part of the project, interesting to see how people interpreted the theme - love the use of bright colours and bangs to express your creativity, using scrap to create works of art

Wonderful to speak to local people regarding their memories of Greatfield Estate. People did engage and share their memories although they ^{did not} want to enter St Hilda's at that present time. Regarding shift in today's behaviour. 20+ people engaged and parade.

Really enjoyed looking at old photos and listening to the wonderful stories from the residents. I love this kind of thing. It's so important to know the history of the places we live. I learned so much about Greatfield of old. Brilliant!!!

Interesting to meet everyone and learn about the area and its past. Lots of hardworking, kind, committed people here making a real difference! St Hilda's is such a lovely community hub, nice to see people getting together
